

Power of Bullying

The power of a bully is in the way they manage to get the other person to see themselves in comparison to the bully. The child being bullied believes the bully to be stronger and bigger than them and able to do anything. They believe the bully is unbeatable, regardless of the truth.

It can be done through physical violence, verbal abuse, exclusion, extortion and, now, cyber bullying.

A stylized illustration of a human brain in a light pink color with darker pink outlines, set against a blue background. The text is written across the brain in a white, bold, sans-serif font with a black outline.

Bullies want to be the boss of your brain and control how you think and feel.

For more information on Bullying visit us at www.ResolvingBooks.com